NEW YORK DANCE THEATRE, INC.

(a not-for-profit arts organization founded in 1974)

Artistic Director, Nicole Loizides Albruzzese

Ohman School of Ballet serves as a training ground for promising young dancers and offers students the opportunity to learn classical ballet as passed down through Frank Ohman, former soloist with New York City Ballet. We are committed to preparing students for a life both onstage and off through pre-professional programming, master classes and workshops, multiple performance opportunities, and a wide array of injury prevention and mental health classes interwoven in our world class curriculum.

The school opens its doors to all students who wish to learn proper ballet technique regardless of their future aspirations.

Located in Commack, NY, our school serves Nassau and Suffolk Counties and the greater Long Island/New York area.

Our Développé Program launched in April 2023 in the hopes to reach youth in our community who may not have the resources to pursue classical dance. Our school offers not only the finest in education, building strength, discipline, and grace, but is a close family community in which to grow ones self-confidence, critical thinking, and communication.

Développé is unlike any other scholarship program in that it assists financially with travel to/from our studios, understanding that financial aid starts with assistance from home.

The Ohman School of Ballet is proud to host a diverse team with several bilingual Spanish speaking teachers.

To learn more, please call our office or fill out the attached application. You could be part of the world's newest generation of dancers!! Please email the address below.
